“Mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the fairest of them all?” the Queen asked her magic mirror. The mirror replied, “Oh, My Queen, you are the fairest and most beautiful in the land.”

Each morning the magic mirror gave the Queen the same reply until one morning when the mirror said, "Queen you are beautiful, it is true, but Snow White is now prettier than you." "Nooo!" screamed the Queen. "Huntsman! Come here!"

“Huntsman, take Snow White to the forest and bring me back her heart!”
The huntsman felt terrible for poor Snow White so when he found her he told her to run away. Snow White ran as fast as she could.

She came to a tiny cottage set deep in the woods. She knocked on the door.

The door creaked open and a little man popped his head out. The little dwarf smiled and said, "You look lost, won't you come in and have dinner with us? We are the Seven Dwarfs."

The Seven Dwarfs were kind to Snow White and she decided to stay at their cottage. The dwarfs had one warning, "Be careful and don't talk to strangers in the forest!"

Back at the castle, the Queen stood before her magic mirror. "Mirror, mirror on the wall, tell me I am the fairest of them all!" The Queen was shocked to hear the mirror reply, "Queen, Snow White still lives and she remains fairest of them all."

The Queen disguised herself as an old woman and carried a basket of apples into the forest. "Apples for sale!" she called out. Snow White felt sorry for the old woman. She took one of the old woman's apples. The juicy apples were really poisonous. After Snow White took one bite, she fell to the ground.

The dwarfs were not far behind and they yelled, "It's the Queen! Get her!" The Seven Dwarfs ran after her, but could not catch her. Just as they began to carry Snow White, a handsome prince arrived on a white horse. The prince saw how beautiful Snow White was and leaned down to kiss her.

With just one kiss, Snow White opened her eyes and the evil spell was broken. She sat up and saw her friends and the handsome prince. "My prince!" she cried. "My princess!" he rejoiced. And they lived happily ever after.

A wicked queen, a lost girl, seven dwarfs, a poison apple, and a handsome prince! Full-colour illustrations and colourful foil panels bring this classic fairytale to life.
